How can Legal Aid NSW help me?

Help over the phone

Call LawAccess NSW on 1300 888 529. LawAccess NSW is a free telephone service that provides legal information, referrals and in some cases, advice for people who have a legal problem in NSW.

If you are under 18 and need advice about a criminal law problem, or think you might be in trouble with the police you can call the Youth Hotline on 1800 10 18 10.

Face-to-face legal advice

You can get free face-to-face legal advice at most Legal Aid NSW offices. Legal advice is usually limited to 20 minutes. You should phone your nearest Legal Aid NSW office for an appointment (listed on the back of this form).

Help at court

If you need ongoing legal help from a solicitor, you need to apply for a grant of legal aid and fill in this application form or contact a private solicitor to complete an online application.

A grant of legal aid provides you with legal representation in court by a solicitor who works for Legal Aid NSW or a private solicitor paid for by Legal Aid NSW.

Legal Aid NSW provides legal assistance for many criminal, family and civil matters. However, we do not provide legal aid for every legal problem.

How do I get a grant of legal aid?

Our policies explain the types of matters where legal aid is available and who is eligible for legal aid.

We look at:

- what you want legal assistance for
- whether it is reasonable in all the circumstances to grant legal aid (called a merit test)
- what you earn and what you own (called a means test).

To see if you are likely to pass the means test, use the Means Test Indicator at www.legalaid.nsw.gov.au

For more information about our policies check out our A-Z guide to policies or Policy Online at www.legalaid.nsw.gov.au

If legal aid is available for your type of matter and you think you are eligible for legal aid, you must complete this application form and send supporting documentation.

Who can help me fill out the application form?

- LawAccess NSW on 1300 888 529;
- Legal Aid NSW staff (by appointment or at an advice clinic); or
- a private solicitor (you may need to pay for this service)

How do I know if I've been granted legal aid?

After you send us your completed application form, we will send you a letter telling you:

- if you have been granted legal aid
- what the grant is for
- any conditions you must meet to get legal aid.

What if I'm not satisfied with the decision?

In most matters, if you do not agree with the decision either because you have been refused legal aid or because you do not agree with the conditions, you can apply to have the decision reviewed by an independent committee called the Legal Aid Review Committee. Generally you will need to lodge your appeal within 28 days.

Is legal aid free?

No. A grant of legal aid is not free. You will usually be asked to pay:

- some money towards your legal costs at the start of your case
- some or all of your legal costs at the end of your case.

What if my circumstances change?

You must tell us immediately if:

- you change your address
- your financial details or other details change
- you become aware of information likely to affect your eligibility for legal aid
- you want to change your solicitor. You cannot change your solicitor without our agreement.
